Christopher Pogue returns to SecTor 2016

TORONTO, AUGUST 17, 2016 – Security Education Conference Toronto (SecTor) is pleased to announce Nux Chief Information Security Officer and US Secret Service Electronic Crimes Task Force member, Christopher E. Pogue, as this year's fourth keynote.

A long-time supporter of the conference and returning speaker, this year will be Pogue's first time on the SecTor keynote mainstage with his presentation Retaking Surrendered Ground: Making Better Decisions to Fight Cybercrime.

An experienced cybercrime investigator, ethical hacker, military officer, and law enforcement and military instructor, Pogue also brings with him an extensive background leading organizations around the world through thousands of security breach investigations.

Pogue rounds out the keynote speakers organized for SecTor 2016, joining Edward Snowden, Mikko Hypponen and Laura Payne's panel on the conference mainstage. Visit www.sector.ca/speakers for more information.

- WHAT: Security Education Conference Toronto (SecTor)
- WHEN: October 17-19, 2016
- WHERE: Metro Toronto Convention Centre (MTCC), South Building (level 800)
- REGISTRATION: www.sector.ca

"It's exciting to have Chris at the conference again this year," SecTor director and co-founder Brian Bourne said.

"Not only does his background speak volumes and he is well-known around North America's IT security circles, he has a special relationship with the SecTor community and his ability to engage with our audience only adds to the experience."

"His dedication to fighting cybercrime and the knowledge he has from his career is just one part of what Chris brings to the table," Bourne said.

"When he takes the stage this year, I know our audience will be captivated, entertained and informed."

Pogue first appeared at SecTor in 2009 with a technical talk entitled Sniper Forensics - Changing the Landscape of Modern Forensics and Incident Response and more recently in 2014 with his presentations Cybercrime 101 and Stupid is as Stupid Does – The Good, The Bad and The Idiots.
